(Special telegram to the Dispatch.) LIBERTY, VA., May 18 .- Our usually peaceable and law-abiding town and ommunity have been plunged into additional sorrow by the lynching of Hairston Terry by a body of unknown men. About half after 2 o'clock this morning a band of forty or fifty masked men rode up to the jail in this place and, after securing admittance, went into Terry's room and took him out and ung him to a tree on the hill south of and in sight of town.

The excitement of Saturday passed off, and many thought there would be no trouble. However, the funeral services of Jeter took place yesterday at his old home, some twenty miles south of this place. It was perhaps the largest crowd that ever attended the funeral of any man in the county-that is, outside of town.

Jeter was exceedingly popular. He as the tobacco-planters' friend, and by befriending some in making advances on their crops, and owing to his goodness of heart and genial, pleasant nanners, was held in high esteem and was much beloved. It is thought by many that the scheme was planned at the funeral. Many think the unfortunate occurrence was precipitated because of the rumor of the insanity of Terry, which was unhappily circulated here Saturday, the parties engaging in the affair supposing Terry would be acquitted as young Martin was, and that the combination of circumstances so exasperated Jeter's friends about his old home that they determined to put their resolutions into effect at once.

A QUIET AFFAIR. Not a word was spoken by any of the crowd except those who demanded the keys of the jail from the keeper. All men the jailer saw were masked and well armed, and were evidently prepared to meet resistance. The unfortunate victim made no resistance, so far as is known, and did not speak. The lynching party took the rope from the well of the warehouse of Jeter & Newsom to hang him with, which well was in two feet of the spot occupied by Terry when he shot Jeter. A gentleman living in the south side of the county, between this point and where Jeter was buried, says he passed a camp-fire in the wood and saw tracks of horses, indicating that the party wer from that section of country and had made some stay at that point. There is unmistakable evidence now that th jail was closely watched by the lynchers lest an effort should be made to take Terry away, which certainly would have been done had not the judge felt that there was no danger.

TERRY'S INSANITY. It is said to-day that there is abundant proof of Terry's insanity from physicians of high standing in Richmond and here.

Mr. Stratton, an old gentleman in this town, a tailor, was suddenly stricken with paralysis during the excite ment of Saturday, and to-day is not expected to survive. Thus one calamity has followed another, and our whole town and community are made sad and THE JAILER'S STORY.

The jailer had provided an assistant for the night, but the lynching party represented that they wished to lodge a jail, and when they got in would not allow the assistant to rise As soon as the jailer and assistant could they gave the alarm, but too late to accomplish anything. The horrible deed was done so quietly, and so well planned had been the whole thing, that but few persons knew of it till morn and rendered a verdict that Terry came to his death at the hands of unknown men, and the body was taken in charge by his friends. The jailer says that parties with drawn pistols and shot-guns assured him that they would kill him if he did not surrender the keys. The prisoner was very apprehensive

Saturday that he would be lynched, and sent to know if there was any danger. The jailer says he was very restless last night, and did not take off his clothes, except his coat.

As soon as the object of the raid was accomplished the whole party left hastily for the south side, parties who had been aroused plainly hearing the galloping of the horses.

SENSATION IN NOTTOWAY. A Negro Cripple Brutally Beaten and Cuiesty Eurise-The Bedy Exhumed-A Horrible suspicion. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] PETERSBURG, VA., May 18 .- Samuel Stokes was a crippled negro boy, living with his parents near Blacks-and-Whites, Nottoway county. He was said to have been brutally treated by his father, Henry Stokes, and his step-the boy's father in Irby's farm. Su was aroused that everything was not as it should be, and on Saturday the body was exhumed. It was found doubled up in a box 2½ feet in length; the fore-head bore evidence of blows; a fracture of the skull was also found. The body, though it had been thirty-six hours in the grave, was not yet stiff, and the hands and fingers were lacerated as if by a frenzied effort to burst open the coffin, leading to the horrible conclusion that the poor wretch had been bu-ried alive. The blow which his murderers no doubt believed had killed him had merely produced unconsciousness. Both the supposed culprits are under arrest, and there is a most revengeful

Recovering from the shock, Mrs. Lynch, with rare presence of mind, seized the burning articles and threw them through the window. The bouse was badly shattered, every windowglass being broken.

In England it is considered a grand thing to belong to the nobility and to have in your veins what is called "noble blood." But it often happens that the blood of a nobleman is not as good as that of the vigorous man who takes care of the nobleman's cows and pigs. Truly noble blood is that which is his father, Henry Stokes, and his step-mother, Lizzie. He said the indignation aroused by the perusal of the dis-patches was not confined to the Tory party, but was shared by the country at large, and even by the Liberal newspapers. Lord Randelph maintained that M. Giers had said nothing to justify Mr. Gladstone's statement in Parliament that it had been the agreement that no further advance should on either side. NEW YORK, May 18.—General

> Wholesale Escape of Texas Convicts [By telegraph to the Dispatch.] BRENHAM, TEX., May 18.—The latest advices from Clay's plantation, the scene of the recent wholesale escape of convicts, is to the effect that quite a number have been captured, while others have surrendered. From these it is learned that the escape was not a premeditated affair on the part of the onvicts, and that two strangers who instigated and aided in the escape of the convicts brought with them at least twenty revolvers and twelve Winchester rifles. The returned convicts state that it is the determination of those still at large not to be recaptured, and that it will be folly for the officers to attempt their arrest without long-range guns, unless they can get them corner ed. The procession was formed by the priests and thirty-odd altar-boys, in addition to one hundred and fifty boys and girls bearing banners, lighted candles, mitred-staffs, bouquets, and baskets of flowers. The Theatre Last Night.

Pinafore was given at the Theatre last evening to quite a good audience by a company styled the New York Standard Opera Company. Although it seemed to be their first appearance together, and the company is small, they did quite well. There are no remarkable voices or particular stars, yet they are all earnest and painstaking, and give a performance that is smooth and not wanting in refinement.

The "Little Buttercup" of Miss Grace Atherton is excellent. She dresses, acts, and sings the role markably well. She seems lost in the identity of the part she assumes, and never plays to the audience. Childs, and Mr. Dobson have both good voices, and rendered their respective roles of "the Captain" and "Ralph" very acceptably. Mr. Martin's "Sir Joseph " was altogether pleasing, while Miss Escalona as "Josephine" found favor with her audience.

Miss Emma Steiner is director, and it is refreshing to see the earnestness with which she enters into her task of keeping orchestra and company together. The feature of the evening was the cornet-playing of Miss Alice Raymond. This young lady is a remarkable performer upon that instrument. Her tone is sweet and true, and she possesses great power and ease in execution. She was encored time and time again.
